BIKING THE GORDIE HOWE INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE

Once open, you'll be able to walk or bike across this international crossing using the bridge's multi-use path. But where does the multi-use path lead? In Canada, there will be two options that lead to many more. Once users exit the Port of Entry on Sandwich Street, they can access new bicycle lanes that run along Sandwich Street from the Port of Entry to the Rosedale Avenue roundabout, where you can continue on municipal connections to other parts of the city, as well as the Ontario Waterfront Trail. The second option will be a new multi-use path currently under construction along Broadway Street to connect the Canadian Port of Entry to Malden Park. This multi-use path connects to a municipal trail that leads to the Gordie Howe International Bridge trailhead, located at Malden Park. The new trailhead provides path users with a safe parking option as well as rest amenities. Users can also connect through Malden Park to the Rt. Hon. Herb Gray Parkway Trail and broader Trans Canada Trail System.
